

Device Reclamation Service

Have your student devices gone missing? Absolute's Device Reclamation Service can help your school district reclaim missing devices.

THE CHALLENGE:

Student laptops are essential for the success of remote, in-class, and other hybrid learning models. With asset management teams stretched thin managing a larger fleet than ever before, manual inventory tracking has become cumbersome and complicated. As a result, hundreds of student devices are often unreturned, and IT lacks resources to track each one down. Each missing device poses a risk to the security of the district and results in wasted budget, CARES audit concerns, and the potential for a data-breach.

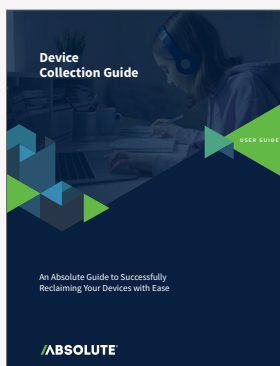

THE SOLUTION:

Let us do it for you. Absolute's Device Reclamation Service allows resource-challenged districts to outsource this time-consuming task to specialists at Absolute. Leveraging our built-in connectivity combined with our proven technology to reach out and get devices back, we'll work to recover each student device, saving you time and money.

HOW IT WORKS:

The beauty of Absolute's service is that it's seamless, comprehensive and all-inclusive for your entire school district's device pool. Combining our technology reach and communication recovery channels, we will ensure those devices get returned safely. Our proven recovery method leverages Absolute's undeletable tether to each and every device, combined with multiple customized outreaches to student households.

Our specialists will also inform district officials when shipping labels are needed by a parent/guardian to return a device that's
